Section Headings

The section headings used in this Contract of Carriage are intended for convenience and reference only. They in no way define, limit, or describe the scope or substance of any of the provisions set forth herein.

Application of Virgin America Contract of Carriage

The policies in this document apply only to travel entirely within the United States of America. They explain the conditions upon which Virgin America agrees to transport each Guest within the United States. For the conditions upon which Virgin America offers to transport each Guest between the United States and Mexico, please refer to Virgin America's International Contract of Carriage.

The Guest agrees to the policies in this contract by making a confirmed reservation.

Applicable terms and conditions are those in effect as of the date a Guest confirms a reservation for transportation on Virgin America, except that the fees for certain additional services that are paid by a Guest after a reservation has been made, such as for day of departure upgrades, pets, and unaccompanied minors shall be those fees in effect at the date the additional services are requested. However, the fees for additional baggage, changes, and cancellations shall be those in effect as of the date a Guest confirms a reservation for transportation on Virgin America.

Virgin America Guest Services Commitment

Virgin America's Guest Services Commitment sets forth Virgin America's customer service commitments to our Guests.

The Virgin America Guest Services Commitment is accessible at www.virginamerica.com.

Authority to Change Contract

No Team Member or representative of Virgin America may change, alter, or waive any provision of this contract without the written authorization of a Virgin America corporate officer.

ACCEPTANCE OF GUESTS

Children

Accompanied Children

Infants will be accepted for travel after the seventh day of age. An adult may carry an infant or child under the age of two (2) on his or her lap (a "Lap Child"). There is no charge for infants up to the age of two (2) not occupying a seat. .

Children two (2) through four (4) years old must be accompanied by a Guest fifteen (15) years or older, and are required to occupy either an approved child restraint device (such as a FAA-approved car seat) or be comfortably restrained in an aircraft seat, using the provided seat belt. A seat must be purchased for a child who is at least two (2) years old at the time of travel, regardless of the child's age at the time the reservation was made or whether the child qualified as a Lap Child on the originating segment.

Unaccompanied Children (Minors)

Virgin America will accept Unaccompanied Minors for non-stop itineraries only, Unaccompanied minor travel is not permitted on Interline connections, two point-to-point segments requiring a flight connection, or through flights.

Young adults fifteen (15) through seventeen (17) years old traveling unaccompanied are considered adults for travel purposes. However, if the parents or guardians wish the services provided to Unaccompanied Minors to be honored for their young adults we will do so.

A charge will apply for Virgin America's Unaccompanied Minor service based on the length and destination of the flight. For the current fee please see our FAQs on the www.virginamerica.com.

Car Seats

Virgin America allows the use of FAA-approved infant safety seats secured to standard Guest seats.

An infant safety seat cannot take up an aisle or exit row seat. It may not be located in the rows forward and behind emergency exit rows. Guests must ensure that infant safety seats used during flight remain secured at all times, even when unoccupied.

A window seat is the preferred location; however, other locations are acceptable provided that only persons responsible for the child occupy seats next to the child/infant.

Seats manufactured between January 1, 1981 and February 25, 1985 must bear the following label: "This child restraint system conforms to all applicable federal motor vehicle safety standards."

Seats manufactured after February 26, 1985 must bear an additional label, printed in red, which reads: "This restraint is certified for use in motor vehicles and aircraft."

Note: Booster-seats, vest and harness type child restraint systems, lap held child restraints, unlabeled seats and seats manufactured before January 1, 1981 are not acceptable.

Pregnant Women

Virgin America will allow women to travel without a doctor's permission up to seven days before her due date. Any woman who is within seven days of her due date must submit a document from her physician on official letterhead stating that she is fit to fly. This information must be available to a Virgin America Team Member at check-in. If the Guest is traveling round trip, the document must indicate that she will be fit for the return portion of her trip as well.

Guests with Disabilities

Commitment to Guests with Disabilities

Virgin America will strive to provide Guests who have disabilities with dignified, professional and courteous service at all times.

Service animals

Service animals (seeing eye dogs and other animals that are appropriately certified by a physician or other credible person/agency, etc.) may accompany a Guest with a disability on a flight. Any of the following evidence is acceptable as proof of an animal's service status.

- An identification card for the animal;
- The presence of harness or markings on harnesses tags; or
- The Guest's credible verbal statement.

Guests with service animals will be seated so as not to obstruct another Guest's emergency exit path. A service animal will be put in close proximity to the Guest, such as underneath the seat in front of the Guest or held in the Guest's arms. However, no service animal may obstruct an aisle or an emergency exit path. Virgin America will not separate a service animal from its owner.

Service animals must be trained to behave properly in public settings. An animal that engages in disruptive behavior such as running freely, barking, growling, urinating, biting or jumping on other Guests has not been successfully trained. In such cases, Virgin America is not required to treat the animal as a service animal, and may deny transportation of the animal in the cabin of the aircraft. Service animals in training will not be transported.

Portable Oxygen Concentrators

Virgin America accepts certain carry-on Portable Oxygen Concentrators (POCs). POCs which have been labeled as tested in accordance with FAA standards and which FAA has identified as approved may be used in the cabin as discussed below. A POC which is not one of the named POCs and/or which does not bear this label may not be used in the cabin, but may be transported as an assistive device.

An oxygen concentrator is a machine that takes normal ambient air and, using a series of sieves, filters, and a compressor, removes nitrogen from the air, increasing the oxygen content.

We will only accept brands which have been approved by the FAA:

1. AirSep FreeStyle
2. AirSEP LifeStyle
3. Delphi RS-00400
4. Inogen One
5. Invacare XPO2
6. Invacare SOLO2
7. Respirationics EverGo
8. SeQual Eclipse
9. Devilbiss Healthcare iGo
10. International Biophysics LifeChoice
11. Inogen One G2
12. Oxlife LLC Independence

Emotional Support Animals

Emotional support animals may accompany a Guest with a disability on a flight. Virgin America requires documentation to substantiate the Guest's disability-related need for the animal to accompany them in the aircraft cabin. Acceptable forms of documentation are listed below.

Guests may not travel with service animals that pose unavoidable safety and/or public health or safety concerns. Snakes, other reptiles, rodents, birds, and spiders fall within this category of animals.

Acceptable forms of documentation include a letter from a licensed mental health professional (e.g. psychiatrist, psychologist, licensed clinical social worker, including a medical doctor specifically treating the passenger's mental or emotional disability). The letter may not be more than one year old from the date of the guest's scheduled initial flight. It must include verification of all of the following information:

- That the Guest has a mental health-related disability; and
- That having the animal accompany the Guest is necessary for the Guest's mental health, treatment, or to assist the Guest (with his or her disability); and
- That the individual providing the assessment of the Guest is a licensed mental health professional; and
- That the Guest is under the care of the individual providing the documentation.

Wheelchairs

- One onboard wheelchair will be made available on board each aircraft at all times.
- Upon request, collapsible Guest wheelchairs will be accepted for up to two Guests and placed inside protective bags and stowed in the belly of the aircraft, on a first-come, first-served basis. (For wheelchairs that have batteries, see notes below.)
- All other wheelchairs that cannot be accommodated in the cabin or overhead storage bins will be transported as checked baggage.
- An assistive device such as a wheelchair will take precedence over other Guest baggage. In the event that other Guest baggage is unable to be transported in order to make room for assistive devices, Virgin America will transport such baggage on the next available flight to the Guest's destination.

Battery-operated wheelchairs

Battery-operated wheelchairs/mobility aids are permitted on Virgin America aircraft, subject to size constraints of the cargo door. Wheelchairs/mobility aids will NOT be transported if it exhibits evidence of previous leakage or damage.

Batteries - Batteries are classified as either "spillable" or "non-spillable." As used below, Spillable batteries include those batteries that lack required "non-spillable" labeling by the manufacturer. Virgin America has a limited number of battery packaging units available at each ticket counter, which are available to Guests on first come, first served basis. All batteries must, upon visual inspection (including removal, if necessary, by a qualified Team Member), reveal no obvious defects. All batteries must meet applicable requirements of 49 CFR Part 173 for transport. In addition:

Non-Spillable Batteries

Non-Spillable Batteries must meet the provisions of 49 CFR § 173.159 for non-spillable batteries and must be marked by the manufacturer as "NONSPILLABLE."

Spillable Batteries

Batteries lacking non-spillable manufacturer labeling and spillable batteries that cannot remain in an upright position must be removed from the wheelchair/mobility aid. If necessary a qualified Team Member will be made available to assist the Guest in removing the battery. The battery must be transported in strong, rigid packaging under the following conditions:

1. The packaging must be leak-tight and impervious to battery fluid. An inner liner may be used to satisfy this requirement if there is absorbent material placed inside of the liner and the liner has a leak proof closure;
2. The battery must be protected against short circuits, secured upright in the packaging, and be packaged with enough compatible absorbent material to completely absorb liquid contents in the event of rupture of the battery; and

The packaging must be labeled with a CORROSIVE label, marked to indicate proper orientation, and marked with the words “Battery, wet, with wheelchair.”

Guests requiring Safety Assistants

Virgin America may require a safety assistant for any guest if Virgin America determines that an attendant is essential for that person's safety. Virgin America will use the following criteria in assessing whether a Guest requires attendant safety assistant:

- Is there a mental disability that makes the Guest unable to comprehend or respond appropriately to safety instructions including the safety briefing?
- Is there mobility impairment so severe that the Guest is unable to assist in his or her own evacuation of the aircraft?
- Is there a severe hearing or severe vision impairment such that the Guest cannot establish some means of communication with Team Members?

Guests not requiring Safety Assistants

Virgin America will not require an attendant if all of the following conditions can be met:

- The Guest has a method of communication sufficient to receive a safety briefing; and
- The Guest is able to assist in his or her own evacuation of the aircraft in the event of an emergency; and
- The Guest is able to comprehend and, if necessary, respond to safety instructions from Virgin America Team Members; and
- The Guest is able to travel to aircraft bathrooms on his or her own accord with minimal assistance from Team Members.

If Virgin America determines that the Guest requires a safety assistant, but the Guest believes that she or he is capable of traveling without a safety assistant, Virgin America may require a safety assistant— either a Virgin America Team Member or other safety assistant selected by Virgin America, or a safety assistant selected by the Guest. In this situation, Virgin America will not charge for the transportation of the Guest's safety assistant.

Other Equipment

Incubators and stretchers are not permitted in the aircraft for Guest use nor may they be carried on board, however, they may be used per the Guest's physician's direction prior to departure and upon arrival at either connecting or destination locations. The Guest, traveling companion, or attendant is responsible for setting up the concentrators when used during these periods. The oxygen bottles on board are for use by the crew only in accordance with aircraft and medical emergencies.

ACAA Regulations

The U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) has issued regulations implementing The Air Carrier Access Act of 1986 (ACAA). These and other safety-related regulations address air travel by persons with disabilities and include provisions concerning the physical facilities and services to be provided to Guests with disabilities.

Virgin America makes every effort to comply with the DOT's rules. It is important to note, however, that FAA safety regulations take precedence over individual airline policies for carriage of Guests with disabilities.

Complaint Resolution

If a person with a disability has a concern or complaint concerning their treatment on or by Virgin America, a Virgin America Complaint Resolution Official (CRO) is available to discuss such concerns with the Guest. At least one CRO will be made available at each airport served by Virgin America, either in person or by telephone.

To reach a CRO, contact a Virgin America airport supervisor through any Virgin America Team Member.

Allergies

Virgin America recognizes that some Guests are allergic to nuts, and that exposure to nuts can result in dire, or even fatal, consequences for Guests with the most severe allergies. Virgin America cannot guarantee an environment free of any allergies, including peanuts, peanut dust, peanut oil, or peanut remnants. Guests with severe allergies should advise Virgin America prior to travel.

Denied Boarding

A Guest may be voluntarily or involuntarily denied boarding in the event of an oversold flight. Please see section on "Denied Boarding Compensation" in the Fares, Travel Credit and Refunds section of this document.

Refusal to Transport Guests

Virgin America may refuse to provide transportation to any Guest, or to remove any Guest from its aircraft in certain situations including but not limited to the following:

- Whenever such action is necessary to comply with any government regulation, security directive, or any governmental request for emergency transportation in connection with the national defense or other requisition for space.
- On the basis of safety or security, or when the transportation of a Guest would violate the Federal Aviation Regulations. (Note: This is not to be confused with denied boarding situations whenever it is necessary to comply with government regulations.)
- When such an action is necessary or advisable due to weather or other conditions beyond Virgin America's control (including but without limitation acts of God, force majeure, strikes, civil commotions, embargoes, wars, hostilities, or similar disturbances), including the need to restrict seating capacity.

- Any Guest who refuses a search of person or property for explosives or for deadly, controlled, or dangerous weapons, articles, or substances.
- Any Guest who, in the sole judgment of Virgin America, previously has engaged in conduct intended to defraud Virgin America, including but not limited to in the purchase of or claims regarding tickets, baggage, and Elevate credits.
- Any Guest whose conduct is disorderly, offensive, harassing, abusive or violent, or:
 - a. Commits, or threatens to commit, any act which would be detrimental to the safety of any Virgin America flight and/or its Guests or Team Members;
 - b. Appears to be intoxicated or under the influence of illegal drugs;
 - c. Attempts to, or has been known to attempt to, interfere with any member of the flight crew; or
 - d. Refuses to obey instructions from any flight crew member or to comply with federal regulations or security directives.
- Any Guest who is not wearing both top and bottom apparel. Further, clothing that is offensive or might interfere with the safety of the flight or safety of other Guests is prohibited.
- Any Guest over the age of five (5) who is not wearing shoes, unless for medical reasons.
- Any Guest who fails to comply with the Virgin America Contract of Carriage.
- Any Guest who requires medical oxygen. Oxygen, as a compressed gas, is classified as a restricted article that may not be carried by passengers aboard aircraft. Virgin America does not provide medical oxygen on any of its aircraft. Oxygen is provided on an emergency basis only. However, Guests may bring aboard FAA approved portable oxygen concentrators which do not contain compressed gases or other hazardous materials and which otherwise comply with the requirements of Part 382 of the Federal Aviation Regulations.
- Any Guest who is unwilling to comply with seating requirements under the Additional Seat Purchase policy as specified in this Contract of Carriage. Failure to enforce or willingness not to enforce its Additional Seat Purchase policy for a passenger traveling on a given flight does not preclude Virgin America from requiring such passenger to purchase two seats on a subsequent flight.

In enforcing these Refusal to Transport guidelines, Virgin America will fully comply with the requirements of Part 382 of the Federal Aviation Regulations for the transportation of Guests with disabilities, including that:

- a. Virgin America will not limit the number of qualified Guests with disabilities on any flight.
- b. Virgin America will not require a medical certificate, or impose any condition, restriction or requirement for a Guest with a disability that would - not be imposed on a Guest without a disability.

- c. Virgin America will not refuse to transport a qualified Guest with a disability solely because the disability results in appearance or involuntary behavior that may offend, annoy or inconvenience crew members or Guests.

All Guests are asked to refrain from engaging in any conduct that would authorize Virgin America to refuse transport under these Refusal to Transport guidelines. The sole recourse of any Guest refused carriage or removed en route for any reason specified in this section shall be recovery of the refund value of the unused portion of his or her ticket as provided in the Denied Boarding Compensation section below. As an express precondition to the issuance of any refund, Virgin America shall not be responsible for damages based on the refusal to transport of any kind whatsoever.

Check-in Requirements

Guests are required to check in for domestic flights on the web ninety (90) minutes prior to departure or at the airport via kiosk or ticket counter at least thirty (30) minutes prior to departure, or as otherwise published at www.virginamerica.com, and must be at the boarding gate at least fifteen (15) minutes prior to scheduled departure time.

Guests are required to check in for international flights on the web ninety (90) minutes prior to departure or at the airport via kiosk or ticket counter at least sixty (60) minutes prior to departure, or as otherwise published at www.virginamerica.com, and must be at the boarding gate at least thirty (30) minutes prior to scheduled departure time.

Baggage must be checked at the airport at least forty-five (45) minutes prior to flight departure for domestic flights and sixty (60) minutes for international flights. Due to distance and baggage travel time, certain airports may require a baggage check-in time greater than forty-five (45) minutes. Please refer to our FAQs at www.virginamerica.com for specific requirements including those for international flights.

Electronic Surveillance of Guests and Baggage

The airport security checkpoint is intended to prevent or deter the carriage of weapons, explosives, incendiaries, or other deadly or dangerous weapons or material by Guests and other persons aboard an aircraft or into the sterile area.

Since shortly after September 11, 2001, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) has been responsible for the operation of airport security checkpoints in the U.S. As a result of TSA and other regulations, Guests must submit to electronic surveillance of themselves and their baggage.

Smoking

Smoking is not allowed on any Virgin America flights in compliance with Federal law.

Federal law prohibits tampering with, disabling or destroying any smoke detector in an aircraft lavatory.

A change to same day standby status may only be made at the airport, is subject to flight availability, and is made available on a first-come, first-served basis.

For an additional fee, a Guest may confirm an earlier or later departure on the date the Guest is confirmed, with the same origin and destination. If the next available flight is fully booked, the Guest may go standby on a "roll over" status on the next flight.

If a Guest fails to show up prior to the specified check-in times described herein for a reserved Virgin America flight and fails to notify Virgin America prior to the flight's departure, Virgin America will cancel that flight reservation and all subsequent segments for continuing or return flights and the fare or Elevate points redeemed for all such reservations will be forfeited.

Reservation Cancellations

Virgin America's cancellation guidelines can be found in the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) on www.virginamerica.com under the Help link, which are incorporated in this Contract of Carriage by reference.

24-Hour Hold Policy

A Guest can place a reservation on hold through Virgin America Reservations for 24 hours without payment, as long as the rules of the fare are met. If the Guest has not completed payment for the reservation within 24 hours, the reservation will be cancelled without penalty

Group Reservations

Group reservations must be made through Virgin America Reservations and such reservations must be made when ten (10) or more Guests are booked as a group traveling on the same itinerary. Group reservations are subject to all applicable group policies and procedures established by Virgin America. Specifically:

- Groups can book six (6) months in advance of travel.

- If booking is made less than 45 days prior to departure, full payment is due within 24 hours after making the reservation.
- The fare is guaranteed at the time of payment of the deposit.
- Changes to group reservations will be subject to a $100.00 change fee per person and any applicable fare difference.
- If a group cancels its reservation prior to 45 days from departure, a full refund will be made to the original form of payment. When a cancellation is made less than 45 days from departure, the group forfeits all monies.
- The names of all traveling Guests are due thirty (30) days before the date of departure.

Pre-Assigned Seats

Advanced seat assignments may be made at time of reservations. Advanced seats are assigned as a courtesy, and may not be available at time of booking and are not guaranteed.

Seats can be assigned online or by calling Virgin America Reservations. Seats will be assigned according to the cabin purchased (First Class, Main Cabin Select or Main Cabin).

If a Main Cabin Select guest chooses either seat 3C or 3D there is a rare possibility that Virgin America may need to reaccommodate that guest into another Main Cabin Select seat or other available seat on the aircraft. The unlikely event that would require such a move is if a Guest with either a service animal or a fused/immobile leg is in need of the seat.

Stopovers

Stopovers are not permitted on any published fare. A stopover is any voluntary interruption of the Guest's journey at an intermediate location that exceeds four (4) hours.

Upgrades

If available, and within the specified timeframes per cabin, a Guest may purchase an upgrade to a Main Cabin Select or First Class seat on the day of departure at check-in at airport kiosks, check-in counters, and on the web. Fees must be purchased with Cash, Credit Card or existing Virgin America guest credit or gift certificates; guests may not use Elevate Points to purchase upgrades. Upgrade fees are based on trip length and are charged per segment. Please see our FAQs on www.virginamerica.com for more information.

Additional Seat Purchase

Additional Seat Purchase – The purchase of more than one seat for use by a single Guest is required in the following circumstances:

- At Virgin America we value the safety and comfort of all of our guests. To accommodate a guest of size who encroaches on an adjacent seat area and/or is unable to sit in a single seat with the armrests lowered, we ask that our guests of size purchase two seats. To book two seats, please call 1.877.FLY.VIRGIN (1.877.359.8474).

If a guest purchases two main cabin seats and the flight goes out with at least two empty seats (the extra seat they purchased and another empty seat) we are happy to refund the cost for the extra seat to that guest upon request.

If a guest purchases two MCS seats and the flight goes out with at least two empty MCS seats, the Guest is entitled to a refund of the extra MCS seat upon request. If MCS is full but there are empty seats in the Main Cabin the guest is NOT entitled to a refund of the extra MCS seat.

All refund requests must be made through the Guest Relations Center.

- To transport a Guest who, because of his or her particular disability, would be unable to travel without the purchase of additional space on the aircraft; or
- When necessary to transport large musical instruments or electronic audio/video, medical, or other sensitive equipment unsuitable for carriage as checked baggage.

It is the Guest's responsibility to notify Virgin America of a unique seating need. As described in this Contract of Carriage, Virgin America may refuse to transport individuals who are unable or unwilling to comply with these seating requirements.

Fare Change Fees

Additional Charges

Prior to the start of travel, Virgin America reserves the right to collect additional taxes and fees imposed by a government entity after a reservation is confirmed and paid.

Virgin America reserves the right to adjust fares and may do so at varying intervals with no prior notice. Guests, who confirm a reservation with payment, or as allowable under the "24 Hour Hold Policy" section, are guaranteed that particular fare. In the event of a fare increase after the time of confirmation, the Guest may travel on the originally confirmed reservation without additional payment. If the fare decreases, a guest may change his or her reservation to receive the new fare, however a change fee will apply.

The below chart illustrates our change fees for flights on Virgin America. The fees listed are in addition to any applicable fare difference between the original flight and the new flight on the same date or different date. If the flight change results in a credit, after the applicable fees are deducted, the amount credited will be placed in a Virgin America credit file valid for use towards a new purchase for 12 months from the issuance date.

If a reservation is changed within 24 hours from the time the original booking was made, Virgin America will refund any difference due to the Guest via the original form of payment and no fee will be charged. Difference in fare will apply.

Travel credit files

Making a change to a reservation may result in receiving a credit “file” for future travel on Virgin America, less any applicable fees.

Unless a reservation indicates otherwise, credit for future travel is valid for transportation for one year from date of initial use, or if unused, for one year from date of cancellation.

Fare Cancellation Fees

The below chart illustrates our cancellation fees for flights on Virgin America. When a flight is cancelled, the cancellation fee will be deducted from the total balance and then the remaining balance will be credited to a travel credit valid within 12 months from the date of cancellation.

Class of Service	Tickets purchased on or after November 20, 2009, for all cancellations
Main Cabin	$75.00 via www.virginamerica.com, $100.00 through call center, airport, and travel partners

Instant Upgrade to Main Cabin Select	$75.00 via www.virginamerica.com, $100.00 through call center, airport, and travel partners
Main Cabin Select	No Charge
First Class	No Charge
Fully Refundable First Class	No Charge

Guests who have credits in Fully Refundable Main Cabin, Main Cabin Select, or Fully Refundable First Class may contact Virgin America Reservations if they prefer a refund to their original form of payment.

If a travel credit is not used to book an itinerary within twelve (12) months from the date of change or cancellation, or refund requested to original form of payment for Fully Refundable Main Cabin, Main Cabin Select, and Fully Refundable First Class, all travel credit is forfeited.

Most fares for travel on Virgin America are non-refundable. Fares may only be refunded if the guest has purchased a fully refundable Main Cabin fare, the Main Cabin Select fare, the fully refundable First Class fare, or under circumstances described in the "Involuntary Refunds" section or in the specific fare rules.

If a reservation is cancelled within 24 hours of the time the original booking was made, Virgin America will refund the amount paid, via the original form of payment and no fee will be charged.

In certain extenuating circumstances a refund may also be given. In these limited circumstances, itineraries paid with a credit card will be refunded within seven (7) business days of the refund authorization and cash refunds will be honored within twenty (20) days.

E-Tickets

Virgin America uses electronic-tickets ("e-tickets") exclusively, which include a confirmation code. Guests are required to present their confirmation code for transportation. In the event a Guest does not have a confirmation code at check-in, a Virgin America Team Member will assist in locating the confirmation code using the Guest's name, government-issued identification, and, if needed, valid credit card. In the event the Guest does not present the confirmation code and no record is located by Virgin America, Virgin America has the right, in its sole discretion, to deny transportation.

Denied Boarding Compensation

Voluntary Denied Boarding

In the event of an oversold flight, Virgin America will solicit volunteers for denied boarding compensation, and shall advise them if they are in danger of being involuntarily denied boarding and, if so, the compensation that Virgin America is obligated to pay if they are involuntarily denied boarding. Guests who are voluntarily denied boarding will be offered accommodation on a case-by-case basis, to be determined in the sole discretion of Virgin America Team Members staffing the flight. Accommodation may include, but is not limited to, rebooking on another flight (either on Virgin America or another airline) to the same or nearby destination, travel credits, hotel, or other accommodations.

Involuntary Denied Boarding

- When a flight is oversold and volunteers have not been found, Virgin America will involuntarily deny boarding to the last guests to check in for the flight.
- No compensation is due to guests who are involuntarily denied boarding and are rebooked on a flight planned to arrive within one (1) hour of their original planned arrival time.
- No compensation is due to guests who did not fully comply with Virgin America's reservation and check-in requirements, or cannot be accepted for transportation under the rules set forth in the Acceptance of Guests section.
- No compensation is due to guests who are involuntarily denied boarding if Virgin America substitutes a smaller-capacity aircraft for safety or operational reasons. Guests will be accommodated on the next available flight.
- Guests who are involuntarily denied boarding and are rebooked on a flight planned to arrive within one (1) to two (2) hours after their original planned arrival time will receive a travel credit or cash compensation for 200% of the value of their reservation not to exceed $650.00.
- Guests who are involuntarily denied boarding and are rebooked on a flight planned to arrive after two (2) hours after their original planned arrival time will receive a travel credit or cash compensation for 400% of the value of their reservation not to exceed $1300.00
- Guests traveling on a "zero fare" ticket (a ticket acquired without a substantial monetary payment such as by using frequent flyer miles or vouchers, or a consolidator ticket obtained after a monetary payment that does not show a fare amount on the ticket; a zero fare ticket does not include free or reduced rate air transportation provided to airline employees and guests). Denied Boarding Compensation is determined by the value of the lowest cash, check, or credit card payment charged for a ticket in the same class of service on the flight on which you intended to travel.

Involuntary Travel Credit or Refunds

In the event the refund is required because of Virgin America's failure to operate on schedule or refusal to transport, the following amounts will be offered to Guests for travel credit or refund:

- If the reservation is totally unused, the full amount will be credited or refunded (with no service charge or refund penalty); or
- If the reservation is partially used, the applicable fare for the unused segment/s will be credited or refunded.

- Virgin America will give each passenger who qualifies for involuntary denied boarding compensation a statement of the amount of compensation that they are due via a payment via cash or check. The payment will be made on the day and at the place the involuntary denied boarding occurs. If the Virgin America arranges alternate transportation for the passenger's convenience that departs before the payment can be made, the payment shall be sent to the passenger within 24 hours.

Virgin America will not be obligated to refund any portion(s) of a confirmed reservation on a Virgin America flight that is involved in an irregular operation or is due to a schedule irregularity, unless the flight is cancelled; a Guest chooses not to fly on a flight that is significantly delayed or rerouted; or a Guest booked in First Class can only be accommodated in the Main Cabin.

Whether the refund is voluntary or involuntary, Virgin America may reserve the right to refuse to make any refund in a currency other than the currency of purchase or in a country other than the country of purchase.

General Refund Policy

Regardless of the reason, it is Virgin America's policy to process all completed and approved refund requests within seven business days for payments made via credit card and within 20 business days for payments made via cash or check.

BAGGAGE

General Acceptance

The United States Government requires that baggage tendered for transportation either as checked baggage or as carry-on baggage will be subject to inspection for security reasons. Guests and their baggage are subject to inspection with an electronic detector or other inspection devices with or without the Guest's consent or knowledge. If items unacceptable for carriage, as determined by the United States Government, its designees or per this Contract of Carriage are found the Guest or the Guest's baggage may be denied transportation.

Acceptable Articles

Virgin America will accept for transportation as checked or carry-on baggage those items or personal property which are necessary or appropriate for the use of the Guest for their trip.

These articles must be enclosed in a sturdy, durable container suitable for transportation by air (i.e., suitcases, clothing bags, trunks, etc.). Cardboard boxes and other nonstandard suitcases will be accepted but must be checked with a limited liability release tag affixed to them.

Conditionally Acceptable Articles

Other items which are not well-suited for transportation (with or without Virgin America's knowledge) are accepted only at the Guest's own risk. In such cases Virgin America will not be liable for damage, loss or spoilage of the items. A list of fragile, irreplaceable and perishable items can be found in the baggage liability section of this document. Virgin America may, in its discretion, refuse to carry any fragile or perishable goods.

Minimum Check-in Requirements

All Virgin America baggage must be checked in at the airport no later than forty five (45) minutes before departure for domestic flights and sixty (60) minutes for international flights or as otherwise posted at www.virginamerica.com. Checked baggage must have an identification tag, legibly bearing the Guest's name and contact information, to be placed on the outmost side of the bag or container.

Security rules provide that no Guest may check in baggage on any flight for which he/she does not hold a confirmed reservation.

All Guest baggage will be accepted for check-in anytime of the day of the flight, but no later than forty-five (45) minutes before departure for domestic flights and sixty (60) minutes before departure for international flights.

Carry-On Baggage

Each Guest is allowed to carry onboard one piece of carry-on baggage and one personal item. This is in accordance with Virgin America's FAA-approved carry-on baggage program.

A personal item includes, but is not limited to a briefcase, purse, laptop, tote bag, infant bag, reading material, umbrella, shopping bag or any form of child restraint. A child restraint seat may be used onboard the aircraft as long as the child restraint displays an FAA certification sticker on the back panel of the seat as described in the "Acceptance of Guests" section above.

Please see the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) website at www.tsa.gov for TSA's most current permitted and prohibited carry-on items.

Any assistive devices such as crutches, canes, and walkers may be carried onboard and will not count as a personal item. Canes must be stowed on the floor at the Guest's seat so as not to impede an evacuation.

At least one collapsible wheelchair may be carried onboard. The Inflight Team will fasten the wheelchair in place for the duration of flight. If room is unavailable to stow an additional collapsible wheelchair or a non-collapsible wheelchair in the cabin, it will be priority checked and retrieved at the destination city. Please see the "Acceptance of Guests" section above for more details.

Essential medication and/or currency should always travel on a Guest's person and should never be checked.

Dimensions and Weight

Carry-on baggage is limited to maximum dimensions that may not exceed an outside linear measurement of 50 inches. For example, 10 inches in height + 16 inches in width + 24 inches in length equal an acceptable 50 inch linear measurement. The carry-on bag must be able to fit comfortably in an overhead bin or under the seat in front of you, so as to not obstruct the evacuation process during an emergency. Overhead bin Guest space is limited, so please plan accordingly.

Baggage exceeding the above limitations will be handled as a checked bag. An additional fee may apply if you are over the number and weight allotment granted for check-in.

Musical Instruments

Large oversized items or musical instruments may be secured in a Guest cabin seat, and the Guest will be charged the going fare for that seat. Maximum weight for such items is 180 pounds and must be of a size that allows it to be secured in a seat.
